CREATIVE RESPONSES TO INTERNATIONAL CRIMINAL JUSTICE - COMPLEMENTARITY AND CAPACITY BUILDING

The pursuit of justice for complex international crimes is difficult at the best of times. Rarely, however, do ideal conditions for investigations and prosecutions present themselves. Creative thinking, new tools, and collaborative partnerships between actors at all levels are thus required to achieve meaningful accountability for victims and survivors of atrocities, particularly at the national level.

Coinciding with the release of the ICC Office of the Prosecutor's annual report on Preliminary Examinations, this side event will explore the use of creative measures to achieve the goals of complementarity.

This side event is an opportunity for all participants to address the audience and members of the international community in the spirit of constructive and respectful dialogue.
